About River Ridge and Grayson County, VA

River Ridge is in the rolling foothills of Southwest Virginia among the highest peaks in the state and the second oldest river in the world – it's a great place to live and raise a family. This is where our founder, Charlotte Hanes, decided to build her family farm. Today, that farm is over 1,500 acres positioned along the New River.

Understanding the value of land, Charlotte has placed most of hers under conservation easements and claims this area as a climate refuge. You will often hear Charlotte talk about sustainability and has said, on many occasions, that "the word sustainability has been thrown around so much and misused. Sustainability means that you can reproduce something without taking away any of its present value... and keep it going. Just, keep it going... don't use it up." Grayson County is also a climate refuge.

With this in mind, Charlotte's vision for starting River Ridge was to establish a business model to help support local farms and to ensure sustainability for the surrounding community for years to come. 8 years ago, River Ridge introduced River Ridge Organics on the banks of the New River to build a sustainable berry operation on the most productive ground on the farm to compliment the cattle operation. Today River Ridge Organics has the equipment, the production, the customers and the labor to produce the finest organic berries in the world. We are looking for a team member to join our family.

We say family because we believe our company is a family. We pride ourselves on family values, working hard to get the job done, but also recognizing time to enjoy our surroundings because they are breathtaking. On weekends, we often drive to the top of Whitetop Mountain Road, soaring 5,520 feet and the highest peak in Virginia accessible by car, or cruise either the Mt. Rogers Scenic Byway or the Blue Ridge Parkway. And, if you love music, there is nothing more fun than the Crooked Road Music Trail that goes right through Grayson County.
